Best Practices : 01 (Department of Mathematics and Statistics)

Title: Former Students interaction with the current Student

Objective: To create interaction between former students of the college with regular students so as to build confidence and motivate them for career.

The Context:

Department of Mathematics and Statistics organizes a session where the former students of the department meet the department and interact with the students on the opportunities, scope of the subject, recent trend in the subject, higher education etc. Also, they deliver a lecture on topic related to the syllabus. It helps to motivate the current students and strengthen them in all aspects.

The Practice:

An appeal to former student is made by the head of the department to interact with the current departmental students. After accepting the invitation, department schedule a session on the convenient day. This is a continuous process and every year at least one such activity has been done.

Evidence of Success:

It boost in confidence, motivates the students for the higher education and strengthen them in all aspects.

Problems:

We have not encountered any serious problems/issues.

Title: True Friends Club

Goal: To help the needy students through the student's involvement.

The context: In this club, the students contribute to help their friend who have financial problem to perceive his/her education smoothly. True Friends Club.... Not for greed, it's need !

The practice:

As the Solankur is situated at hilly area, most of the college students are coming from the various villages around it. Most of the people are economically backward. In the morning when an ailed student is coming to the college, he/she knew that due to some family problem he/she would not come to college by tomorrow. But, when he/she enters in the college and mix-up with the friends, giggle with them, while making the noise with the friends; he/she forgets their family problems and gets some positive energy to contest with it. When he/she is returning to the home, they have smile on their face and thinks that this would not be my college last day; I will go on by tomorrow also. He/she became hopeful for the good time.

True friends' club members help to their friends those having financial problems by offering the money from their pocket by cutting their extra-expenditures. This will creates awareness in the students to look around with the open eyes and think about the friend's problem in this modern era of facebook, whats-app etc. This helps to strengthen their friendship and to learn about the social awareness.

We collect the money from the students in the box, without any compulsion for the specific amount. Teachers scrutinize the suggested student's economical condition by visiting their home. Then the collected amount is given to the beneficiary student with the college contribution.

Evidence of success:

- 1] Details of collected amount, list of contributed students
- 2] Name of the beneficiary student along with his /her appreciation letter.
- 3] Principal remarks.

Problem encountered and resource requirement:

As the students are collecting the money from their pocket money, the collected amount is not sufficient to end up beneficiary's complete financial problems. More resources are required.
